DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: reference elements “67” and “68” (page 5, lines 31-32).
2. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor et al U.S. Patent No. 6,250,691 B1.

With regard to claim 3, and as seen in Figure 6, Taylor et al disclose a quick connecting device for ducts in motor vehicles, comprising of:

a female member (40) having first and second opposite ends, and an outer surface with a first circumferential protrusion (40a);

a male member (44) having first and second opposite ends, and an outer surface with a circumferential groove (44b), said male member being receivable in said female member at said first end of said female member without said first end of said female member covering said circumferential groove;

a first sealing member (42) disposed between said first circumferential protrusion of said female member and said outer surface of said male member; and a fastening member (46) disposed around said female and male members holding said female and male members axially in place.

However Taylor et al do not disclose that the female member has a second circumferential protrusion with a sealing member which is disposed between the female member and the outer surface of the male member.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have added a second protrusion with a sealing member such that the male member would be more securely sealed within the female member and because duplicating the components of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Harza, 274 F.2d 669, 124 USPQ 378 (CCPA 1960).

With regard to claim 4, and as seen in Figures 5-6, Taylor et al disclose said fastening member including first and second substantially U-shaped coupling portions (46, 46a in Figure 5; column 4, line 7), one of said first and second coupling portions being received in said circumferential groove of said male member and the other of said coupling portions being fitted into the groove defined between the first and the second circumferential protrusions of the female member (Figure 6).

With regard to claim 5, and as seen in Figure 6, Taylor et al disclose said first sealing member being a first gasket (column 3, lines 55-56).

With regard to claim 6, and as seen in Figure 6, Taylor et al disclose said fastening member is a fastening clip (column 4, lines 1-2).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 3-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
